

Table of Contents

|                                                                                                                              |       |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------|
| Labyrinth: A Foreword - Albert Russo                                                                                         | - 05  |
| Emerging Trends In Postmodern Indian Novel In English                                                                        |       |
| - Anand B. Patil                                                                                                             | - 06  |
| Terror of Survival: A Reading of Homen Bargohain's Subala                                                                    |       |
| - Jonali Sharma                                                                                                              | - 18  |
| Fugitive Histories: A Reading In New Historicism                                                                      |       |
| - A. Marie Josephine Aruna                                                                                                   | - 27  |
| Mamta Kalia's Tribute To Papa: An Exposition of Contemporary Man's Anguished Consciousness                            |       |
| - S. B. Bhambar                                                                                                              | - 32  |
| Gita Mehta's A River Sutra - An Exploration                                                                           |       |
| - T. Sasikanth Reddy                                                                                                         | - 35  |
| Radioactivity of Trauma in Jewish Immigrants in America                                                                      |       |
| - Raj Sree M.S.                                                                                                              | - 43  |
| The Idea of the Female in Elaine Showalter's Literary Theory:A Case Study of Shashi Deshpande's That Long Silence |       |
| - Mahima Singh                                                                                                               | - 50  |
| ... self-imposed exile: Contemporary Poetry in English from Nagaland                                                  |       |
| - Nigamananda Das                                                                                                            | - 58  |
| Tagore's Nationalism: Realization and Reconstruction of the True Indian Identity with Lessons from the Past                  |       |
| - Banibrata Goswami                                                                                                          | - 69  |
| Mother Courage: Nawal El Saadawi's Heroic Mother As Portrayed In A Daughter Of Isis                                   |       |
| - Anju S Nair                                                                                                                | - 83  |
| The Feeling of Guilt: Motherhood at Stake in Alice Walker's Meridian                                                  |       |
| - B. Rajarajeswari Jeyarani                                                                                                  | - 88  |
| Dynamics of Corruption in Satish Alekar's Pidhijat (Dynasts)                                                          |       |
| - AJ Sebastian sdb                                                                                                           | - 94  |
| Contextualising Aravind Adiga's The White Tiger in Postcolonial Paradigm                                              |       |
| - Bhagabat Nayak                                                                                                             | - 101 |
| Sensitive and Sentimental yet Profound and Bold:Feminine Voices of Indian English Poetry                                 |       |
| - G.A. Ghanshyam                                                                                                             | - 113 |
| Dalitism: Sufferings of Past as Pains of Death                                                                        |       |
| - Priyanka Sharma                                                                                                            | - 123 |
| Textualizing The Body: Deconstructing The Female Body in The Novels Of Alice Walker                                          |       |
| - Prasanta Kumar Panda                                                                                                       | - 129 |
| Constructing and Reconstructing Individual and Social Self in Toni Morrison's Beloved                                 |       |
| - B.K. Sharma                                                                                                                | - 135 |